TEXTILE SCHOOL OPENS WITH RECORD BREAKING CLASS

Day Given Over to Registration and "Freshman Rush"
—Second Year Men Put Newcomers Through the Usual Course of Sprouts

Lowell Textile school opened its doors this morning to the largest class in its history, the registration being in excess of 200, compared to 275 last year. The freshmen class is estimated at between 30 and 100, while last year's class, which was the largest in the school's history, numbered only 70.

The whole day was given over to registration and the "freshman rush," the usual assembly marking the opening of school, which is annually presided over by President Charles H. Barnes, being postponed. Classes will begin tomorrow for freshmen and upper classmen.

At noon today about 50 freshmen were corralled in the school courtyard by members of the sophomore class and given their instructions. The opening day is the one day of the year when second year men are "kings," and members of the freshmen class are always given a thorough initiation on this occasion.

The sophomores, armed with paddles and sticks, of all sorts and shapes, forced the "freshies" to take off their shoes, turn their trousers over their knees and put their coats on inside out. The shoes were gathered up by members of the second year class, tied together and placed in a wheelbarrow. Escorted by the sophomores, the

EXPAND WORK SCHEDULE Saco-Lowell Shops Return to Four-Day Week as Business Improves

The local plant of the Saco-Lowell Shops returned to a five-day week this morning to be continued until further notice. A continuance of French weather on order and a few new orders will keep the plant going on a five-day schedule for two or three months, at least, it is expected.

September the shop operated on a four-day week, with a small force of about 200 hands working on Friday, while in August, a five-day per week schedule was maintained.

Today's return to a five-day schedule is taken as a favorable sign of increasing business and the shop will make every effort to keep it up through the winter months. At present in the machine shop section of the plant about 600 men are employed.

ALLEGED OPIUM RUNNER IN DISTRICT COURT

Charged with unlawfully possessing opium, Chin Wee, proprietor of a Chinese laundry at 115 Chelmsford street, was arraigned in district court this morning. He was adjudged guilty and was continued for sentence until tomorrow.

Wee was arrested by Lieut. Patrick Frawley and Sergt. Samuel Sigeloy at his street last night. He had been under suspicion as an opium runner for some time, and when his clothing was searched by the officers, a quantity of the drug was found in a paper container. Search of the laundry in Chelmsford street revealed an empty container.

TRAGEDY OF RUM ROW

British Schooner Sighted Captured and Derelict Off
Georges Fishing Banks

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—A tragedy of Rum Row was reported here today when the fishing schooner Ingomar and Nathalia Hammond brought word that the British tern schooner, Beryl M. Corkum, was sighted, captured and derelict, off Georges Fishing banks last Friday. She was apparently a victim of recent storms. Whether her crew of six was lost or saved was not disclosed.

The Beryl M. Corkum has been known along the coast as one of the vessels plying from Bridgetown, Barbados, to Halifax, N. S., and St. Pierre, in the rum traffic, disposing of her cargoes usually off the New England coast enroute. The last report of her was at Halifax where she was reported arriving August 28 "from sea."

The fishing schooner crews that sighted the wreck said she was floating bottom-up in a manner to show clearly her name and hauling port, but to prevent any examination of the vessel.

The Corkum was commanded by Captain Sevecker, a Lunenburg, N.S., skipper. She originally hailed from that port, but her registry was changed to Bridgetown some months ago. She was a vessel of 24 tons, built at La Pave, N. S., 10 years ago.

96-YEAR-OLD WOMAN
SAVES LIFE OF SON

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Caroline Ballista, 96 years old, of North Agawam, saved the life of her son, Earl, probably that of her grandson, Bert, Jr., early today when, snoring in his bedroom and ran in her night dress to summon help. The men were removed to a hospital here and it is said the older man will recover, but the son's condition is more serious. A rubber tube connecting a gas plate had burst.

HEAVY LOSSES ON BOTH SIDES

Hundreds of Chinese Soldiers
Killed and Many Wounded
on Six-Mile Battle Front

Both Sides Drench Lines
With Shrapnel—Dead Left
Where They Fell

SHANGHAI, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hundreds of Chinese soldiers were killed and many others wounded today on a six-mile front from Nansang to Mulu when armies of rival military governors fighting for possession of Shanghai continued hostilities with impetuous intensity.

According to a witness who returned this afternoon after traversing the sector from Nansang to Mulu west of Shanghai, both sides were drenching the lines with shrapnel.

Numerous relief stations behind the six miles Nansang front were filled with wounded, while scores of others were arriving on stretchers.

The dead have been left where they fell, according to the witness and this practice has resulted in a carrion odor extending over the whole battle area.

The offensive, which has resulted in continuous firing since it opened on Saturday morning, has enabled the Chekiang forces to drive the Kiangsu troops back six miles, according to General Hsia Chao-Lin, commander of the Chekiang forces in the center of activity.

INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF KENWOOD CHILD

Judge Pickman this morning presided at an inquest on the death of 6-year-old Dorothy Gilman, who was killed on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard in Kenwood about 10 days ago. The little girl was struck by a machine operated by Joseph Dolland, 16, of Woonsocket, R. I., who was arraigned on a manslaughter charge in juvenile court last Friday. Belland originally gave his name as Jodoin.

TENANTS DRIVEN TO STREET BY FIRE IN LAKEVIEW AVENUE

Early Morning Blaze Threatened Crowded Tenement
District—Children Carried to Safety by Firemen—
Fire Believed to Have Started in Bundle of Laundry

Fire early this morning drove tenants of a three-family dwelling at 100 Lakeview avenue into the street in their night clothes and threatened for a short while a serious conflagration in one of the most crowded tenement districts of the city.

Two children, occupants of the tenement in which the fire originated, were carried to safety by firemen, while adult occupants of the tenement and those adjoining units their way unassisted to the street.

The fire started in a bundle of laundry in a bedroom on the second floor of the tenement building, occupied by Joe Tikol and his family, and spread to the bed in which Mr. Tikol was sleeping. The heat of the flames awoke him and he rushed to the street and sounded an alarm from box 52 at 3:24 o'clock.

When firemen arrived dense clouds of smoke were pouring from windows on the second floor and, fearing a serious fire, the building was cleared of its occupants by the firemen.

The heavy smoke made it almost impossible for firemen to enter the room, but, after locating the fire, it was quickly extinguished by hose and chemical lines.

Fire Chief Saunders conducted an investigation after sounding the alarm at 3:24 a. m. and stated that the fire was caused, in his opinion, by a cigarette which had been accidentally thrown while still burning into the bundle of laundry.

GENEVA, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The palace of the League of Nations was the scene of dramatic incidents today as the wounded delegates reassembled in an attempt to discover a solution of the difficulty created by Japan's demand for an amendment to the proposed protocol of arbitration and security, and in an effort to save the protocol which continued to be endangered by the new turn of events.

The sub-committee to which the matter had been entrusted held a brief meeting, but adjourned until this afternoon before taking up the Japanese problem because the leaders decided it would be more practical and less dangerous to find a satisfactory formula in private conversations.

POTHIER TO FACE TRIAL FOR MURDER

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 28.—Witnesses from all parts of the United States are arriving here to testify at the trial of Roland Pothier, former sergeant-bugler in the army, charged with the murder of Major Alexander Cronkhite at Camp Lewis in 1918. The trial begins Tuesday. Most of these witnesses will testify also at the trial of Robert Rosenbluth, former captain in Major Cronkhite's command, who was indicted with Pothier. His trial is set for Oct. 22.

The opening phases of the Pothier trial are expected to deal with the matter of jurisdiction. It has never been determined finally whether Camp Lewis had passed from the hands of Pierce county, Washington, into government ownership at the time Major Cronkhite met his death. Should it be decided that the commission was not government property at the time, the case would come under the jurisdiction of the state courts. Prosecuting Attorney James W. Selden of Pierce county, already has indicated that he will not proceed in the matter, giving as his reasons lack of evidence as well as jurisdiction.

Major-General Adelbert Cronkhite, father of the dead man, has arrived here. General Cronkhite, now residing with the army board's accidental theory of his son's death, has been the moving spirit in the numerous investigations which will have their climax in the two trials here.

LISBON SOCIAL AND ATHLETIC CLUB

The Lisbon Social and Athletic club held its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon at its new quarters at 213 Central street. Considerable routine business was transacted and many important matters were taken up and acted upon.

Plans were made for the coming fall and winter season and among the activities arranged is a series of ladies' nights which will be held on Thursday evenings at the club quarters. The first affair will be conducted on Thursday of this week. Mrs. J. J. O'Brien has been engaged to play for dancing and the committee in charge of these events will be John Sousa and Henry Leal.

The soccer team representing the club played North Cambridge team on Saturday, the score being a 1 to 1 tie. Practice sessions will be held on the South Common during the coming week.

NOVELTY CLOTH FROM CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

John Dillenius, a former Lowell chemist now living in New York city, has in his possession a novelty cloth that is attracting much attention. It comes from Czechoslovakia, where it is manufactured. Its peculiarity lies in the fact that the hand-work of natural lustre has been reproduced upon it and remains permanently as a result of being treated by a special process. The cloth is made by a machine intricately designed.

Mr. Dillenius declares that the novelty weave can be manufactured in this country at a good profit.

WOODBINE CLUB

The fall and winter schedule of the Woodbine club got under way yesterday when the first meeting of the season was held. Vice President Joseph Jodoin was in the chair and plans were made for the annual club dance which will be held in the near future. The election of officers will take place on Oct. 19.

BAD SMASHUP BUT NOBODY INJURED

A triple automobile collision on the Pawtucket boulevard early this morning resulted in the cars involved being so badly damaged as to require towing to garages for repairs, but the occupants of the cars escaped without injury. The machines involved were owned by Ovide Desrosiers of Nashua, Joseph E. Boyle of 632 Bridge street, this city, and Matthew Phillips of Nashua.

According to the police report, the two Nashua cars were proceeding towards New Hampshire line, Desrosiers leading, and the Boyle car was con-ing towards this city. Phillips attempted to pass the Desrosiers car, collided with Boyle's machine and then sidwined Desrosiers' machine, turning it over on its side. The Boyle car was thrown out of control when the front wheel was broken by the impact and veered over against the Desrosiers machine. There were six persons in Desrosiers' machine, three in the machine driven by Phillips and three in Boyle's machine, all of whom were uninjured. Patrolmen Patrick P. Noonan and William Purdy investigated the accident.

A new Oakland touring car was stolen by youngsters at School street and Broadway about 8 o'clock last night and driven to the Pawtucket boulevard at a high rate of speed. When Alfred E. Deas and A. E. Pease, two Oakland salesmen became aware of the theft of the car, they informed Patrolman P. P. Noonan and R. T. Mulvey and the four started a search for the car. Down Pawtucket boulevard came the object of their search at a speed estimated between 35 and 40 miles an hour. The machine was evaded, but the boys made a dash for liberty. The driver, only 12 years old, was captured by Mr. Pease, while Patrolman Noonan apprehended a 16-year-old boy. They were taken to the police station and will be arraigned in juvenile court next Friday.

OPERA COMPANY IS ROYALLY FETED

The Greek National Opera company which gave two concerts locally in Liberty hall of the Memorial Auditorium was royally feted yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John K. Gatsopoulos, 153 Middlesex street. The company which has been playing in Manchester, N. H. the past week and where return engagements will be played this week, was escorted to this city by a local delegation. During the course of the dinner the members of the company, Mme. Kyprissi, Messrs. Economides, Mouritis, and Vlahopoulos accompanied by Prof. Cavadaris entertained with numerous selections from Rigoletto, Hamlet and other operas. Among the guests of the evening were A. Contorini, manager of the company and friends from this city, Manchester, N. H., and Smyrna. Following the dinner a sightseeing tour of the city was enjoyed. The company, after filling engagements in various cities of the country and in Canada, where it will play in Montreal soon, will return to Greece.

OPPORTUNITIES OPEN TO LOWELL STUDENTS

The fact that this is indeed the age of opportunity is given proof by the list of university extension courses which the Massachusetts department of education has announced for Lowell this fall.

Business men and women are being particularly favored by the course in business psychology. This course will be instructed by Mr. Frank O. Kresger of the Harvard Graduate School of Education who has successfully taught the subject for a number of years to large gatherings of students. The Lowell Electric Light Co. has given the use of the conference room of the building on Market street for the class, which will open on Wednesday, October 16, at 7.15 o'clock.

In addition to the course mentioned, Mr. Kresger will instruct a course in advanced psychology for teachers. This course is different from the one given last winter and the first course is not a prerequisite. The initial meeting will take place on Wednesday afternoon, October 16, at the Lowell high school. Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy is enrolling the teachers for this class.

Tuesday evening, October 14th will be the opening night for the course in English Composition A. The most essential feature of this course as outlined by the instructor, Professor Robert H. Masters of the Boston Teachers' college, will be the practice in the writing of themes, exemplifying the theory of the study.

Cultural study has not been a neglected part of the program. The course in appreciation of opera will be completed in ten classes, the first being held on Thursday, October 15th at the High School building. The beautiful music dramas of Wagner will be emphasized. Selections on the piano and Victrola will exemplify the theory.

Edward A. Sullivan of the Cambridge school department, who has instructed many successful public speaking classes for the department, will again lead the class in this city. Students will receive ample opportunity to speak before others. The first meeting is scheduled for Friday evening, October 17, at the high school.

The courses in radio and accounting will be held at Lowell Textile school. Radio reception and transmission will begin on Friday evening, October 17, under the direction of Mr. Edwin A. Wells, well known in Lowell for his radio work.

The classes in elementary and advanced accounting will be instructed by Herbert J. Ball and Wilfred B. Maynard. The essential principles and important features which must be mastered by every accountant will be emphasized in these courses. The opening meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 20.

Men and women who have occasion to address assemblies of any nature ought to enroll in the class of parliamentary law. Mrs. Elizabeth L. McNamara will be the instructor and the first meeting will be held at the high school Monday, October 20.

Owners of automobiles who would like to learn how to repair their cars or to locate trouble when something goes wrong will have the chance to enroll in the automobile course. Mr. John J. Glidice will conduct the course and the first meeting will be held at the high school on Monday, Oct. 20.

Interested pupils are advised not to wait until the first class meeting but to register immediately at the office of Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools. All persons are invited to attend the first meetings of any of the courses.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. MILL MAN DIES SUDDENLY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28.—Joseph E. Fletcher, one of the most prominent woolen and worsted manufacturers in Rhode Island, owner until recently of the Narragansett hotel and the Providence Opera House, proprietor of an historic club man of this city, New York and Boston and yachtsman of 35 years' standing, died suddenly of heart trouble last night while on board his motor yacht Juanita at the anchorage of the Rhode Island Yacht club at Pawtuxet.

Col. Fletcher was born in Bradford, Eng., in 1856, and owned at the time of his death the Coronet Worsted mills of Mapleville, R. I., and the Allenton Woolen mill of Allenton, R. I. He is survived by his second wife, who was Miss Marie Theresa Bolin of New York city, and by three sons and three daughters.

INTENSE CAMPAIGN TOUR FOR LA FOLLETTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Mapping out of the route and speaking points for the intensive campaign tour that will carry him to the Pacific coast continued today to occupy Senator Robert M. La Follette and his political advisers. Indications are that the independent presidential candidate will leave Washington before the end of the week and definite announcement of the route he will follow in his campaigning is expected within the next day or two.

The major question as yet undecided, is whether the Wisconsin senator will make a swing through the eastern states and New England before starting the western tour or reserve that for the later stages of the campaign.

Mrs. La Follette Takes Stamp
Mrs. La Follette, who joined the campaign forces of her husband in delivering an address at a political rally at Mountain Lake Park, Md., last night has under consideration one or two invitations to speak. It was said to be doubtful, however, that she would undertake any other formal speaking engagement. In her address last night, Mrs. La Follette asked that her husband's candidacy be given fair-minded consideration, asserting many voters have a prejudiced or erroneous impression of his record and views.

The La Follette platform plank proposing that congress be given power to make valid by re-enactment any law declared unconstitutional by the supreme court was defended in a "campaign document" issued yesterday by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Gompers declared the court's present power of "final veto" was "wholly incompatible with democracy."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Coolidge faced a rather crowded calendar for the week when he went to his desk today.

On Saturday the president will deliver an address dedicating the monument to the First Division troops of the A.E.F., in which he is expected to discuss the foreign relations policy of the administration as well as outline his views on military and naval affairs.

On the same day, Mr. Coolidge has a "tentative" engagement to throw out the first ball at the opening here of the world series, to hold it Washington wins the American league pennant and earlier in the week, on Wednesday, he intends to participate in the official welcoming-home plans for the baseball team on its arrival from Boston.

There are no indications that the president is considering any change in his present program for participation in the campaign. This has consisted so far of conferences with various party leaders, who have called on him and in deliverance of occasional speeches.

PRES. COOLIDGE FACES CROWDED CALENDAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Coolidge faced a rather crowded calendar for the week when he went to his desk today.

On Saturday the president will deliver an address dedicating the monument to the First Division troops of the A.E.F., in which he is expected to discuss the foreign relations policy of the administration as well as outline his views on military and naval affairs.

On the same day, Mr. Coolidge has a "tentative" engagement to throw out the first ball at the opening here of the world series, to hold it Washington wins the American league pennant and earlier in the week, on Wednesday, he intends to participate in the official welcoming-home plans for the baseball team on its arrival from Boston.

There are no indications that the president is considering any change in his present program for participation in the campaign. This has consisted so far of conferences with various party leaders, who have called on him and in deliverance of occasional speeches.

JUNIOR COLLEGE COURSE

Next Monday night the city evening schools will open for the assignment of new classes that are to take up courses of study for the winter. Few except those who are in close touch with the schools can realize how vastly the system has been improved from what it was some half a dozen years ago. In addition to the classes conducted by the city, the state department provides several courses of college grade which offer great opportunities to students who cannot go to college. Here the college is brought to their doors. True they cannot take up the various studies and get through with them as quickly as if they actually attended college. That cannot be expected, but the persevering student can thus work out the essential features of a college course so that he may even excel some of those who graduate from college with all the facilities that friends and money can provide.

There is something about the education that is acquired with difficulty or in the face of great obstacles that makes it more valuable and as a rule more productive than what is acquired without any great effort and under the most inviting or pleasant conditions.

Next week at the local high school in the evenings is to be opened what is known as the junior college with a course of college grade that if creditably completed will count for a college degree. Lowell is one of the two cities in the state chosen for this experiment; and it is important, therefore, that there shall be a sufficient number of applicants to make it a success and insure its continuance through the season. It is announced that thirty-five is the minimum. It will be of no use to join and drop out a few weeks later. For those who take the course and carry it through, it offers opportunities such as have never been available in this city on any previous occasion.

CHAFFING MR. DAVIS

It is amusing how the republican papers try to belittle Hon. John W. Davis by dubbing him the charming gentleman, just as if he were a dilettante or some fashion plate whose main idea was to be faultlessly dressed.

Not one of the opposition papers has been able to pick a flaw in anything Mr. Davis has said. He has raked the republican party for and aft, and he has pointed out that it elected him to the responsible positions and will neither tolerate nor condone any incompetence much less official corruption.

The people have had four years of industrial depression under republican rule and should now be ready to put it aside for a real democratic administration under one of the cleanest and ablest men who ever sought the office of president.

The republican organs are trying to ridicule the candidacy of Mr. Davis as they did that of Woodrow Wilson. For two or three years the Courier-Citizen made a specialty of criticizing President Wilson's grammar, just as if that master of English required a course in the study of the moods and tenses of verbs and the proper use of prepositions. But Mr. Wilson was elected, and history will bear testimony to his mastery of English, his statesmanship and his courage, although the same republican organs dubbed him as "apineless." His record of courage, however, was lost on his republican successor.

In this light, therefore, the attempt to ridicule Mr. Davis is simply ludicrous; and it offers the best proof that he stands above reproach, boldly striking heavy blows at republican corruption and telling the people how they can get rid of the industrial depression at the coming election by putting the democratic candidates in charge of the government. He can handle all his critics, meet all attacks and confound his adversaries in every discussion of the issues of the campaign. He is fully the equal of President Wilson and has a greater gift of leadership than had the late president.

MELLON'S ALUMINUM GRAFT

Some observant democrat calls attention to the fact that the value of aluminum products in 1923 was about $107,000,000, or 183.4 per cent. more than in 1921, when the total was $58,221,161. The census bureau vouches for the accuracy of these figures. That increase is the result of the republican tariff and the monopoly maintained by Secretary Mellon of the treasury department. The latest reports show that the aluminum company in which Mr. Mellon is the chief owner, paid dividends of 10 per cent. in 1923 as against six per cent. in 1921. During the same time the capitalization of the company was greatly increased. This arose from the $30,000,000 in 1913 to $110,000,000 in 1921. It should be noted that by an unwise provision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill a duty of $1 to $11.20 per ton was imposed upon bauxite, which the raw material from which aluminum is made.

In view of these figures, some democrats will be unkind enough to say that Secretary Mellon had an eye to his own interests when he framed that tax bill to reduce the high surtaxes on large incomes while neglecting the small fellows. Fortunately, the democrats in congress succeeded in throwing out the Mellon bill and passing one that benefited more than a thousand times as many people as would the Mellon plan.

SEC. WILBUR'S SPEECH

Senator Caraway of Arkansas is by common consent of the republican press accounted to be a very bad man. What do you suppose the senator has done? He has actually given out startling quotations from a speech that Secretary Wilbur of the navy would have delivered in the west had he not been called off and silenced by President Coolidge.

It was not good form for the senator to do this inasmuch as he had to break confidence with somebody or else some newspaper broke confidence with the Associated Press. The speech was sent out in advance to the newspapers for publication, but when it was found that it would not be delivered, possibly some mistaken newspaperman felt that the prohibition was off and handed it over to Senator Caraway. Decent newspapers are very careful not to betray confidence in such a case. As a rule the Associated Press

A Thought
Diligence, above all, is the mother of good luck.—Samuel Smiles.

Horrid Mail
"Dear," said Mrs. Brown, "I believe mother is offended about something. She hasn't been to see us for several days. Be sure," said Mr. Brown, "to find out what it is when it comes, and we'll try it on her again."

"Riding the rods," sleeping in empty freight cars and cooking her meals by the fire in the true hobnob fashion, Mrs. Herbert Jones, 73, under way from Boulder, Col., to Chicago. She left her 63-year-old husband behind because "he did not feel equal to the task."

Terrible Discovery
Here was son again asking for another check! Every month he spent at college was costing father more and more money. "I had no idea," father said sternly, as he reached for his checkbook, "that an education cost so much." "O, it's terribly high, father," was the reply, "and you know I'm one of those that study the least!"

Honest Workmen
While cleaning accounts rubbish from the home of Catherine Rosenberg, an aged woman living at York, Penn., workmen found $1161 and some small change which the occupant of the house did not know had. The money was found in stockings and other containers tucked up with the rubbish. It has been deposited in a bank in the woman's name.

A Sleepy Number
Mr. and Mrs. Author were going out for the evening. They had engaged a nurse and she was left in charge of the children. "The first time," "Dear," remarked Mrs. Author, "I came downstairs, 'I looked into the nursery and noticed the nurse was reading. Who gave her the book?' 'It is my last,' he answered. 'Dearling,' exclaimed his wife, 'And you know how important it is that she should not go to sleep!'"

Times Change
"I can't live with the man. I absolutely can't. You know how I hate him. If he were a woman, I should have married him so as to write a series of plays. He's everything that a man should be. He's lazy! He's a glutton! All day long he is chewing away at someone's ear. A year ago he married a new husband. 'I can't live with my man. I absolutely can't. Nobody can! He is lazy and greedy and rools for nothing. What a character! He will make for a play or a novel. Now my first husband he was just the opposite a dear, fine fellow he was.'—Billie Blodgett (Munch).

Wonderful Idea
Mrs. Suburb was always very anxious to do the right thing, and she lost no chance at all of showing her neighbors that she was a real, genuine, devoted-in-the-wool lady. Recently some new neighbors had moved into the neighborhood, and Mrs. Suburb was talking them over with her daughter. "Well, Mary," she said, "I suppose we shall have to call on these people. Just take your scissors and cut out some of these cards in one of our visiting cards, will you? 'Whatever for, mother,' asked Mary, 'mean anything that I know of calling on them, but they'll think it does and feel rather small to find out that they don't know an much about society as we do.'"

Rain on the Roof
How pleasant is the sound of rain! What surges of peace its pitter-patter gives! How much more bliss is he who has a little room in a new apartment! What luxury it is to hear the steady rain-drops in a driving northeast storm. To some the furious flood that's beating overhead. And yet he peaceful, happy, dry and warm! What joy it is to hear the sudden drive and drip Of rain descending in a summer shower! How fine the feeling of security you have When fierce winds blow and gloomy storm clouds tower! The beating of the driving rain upon the roof—Of comfort, joy, and happiness it speaks. And best, indeed, is he who has an attic room with a slanted roof! But it is different when the darned roof leaks!—Somerville Journal.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell's new bus line to Boston is to start off in "plain sailing" fashion, apparently, but not all his lines operating in various sections of the Bay State are having a satisfactory run for patronage of their automotive carrier lines. I note that injunctions against "so-called interstate motor busses," which operate in Springfield, North Attleboro, Brockton, Springfield and Taunton, may be asked as a result of a conference held in the attorney-general's office last week. I am informed that uncertainty as to the best method of meeting the interstate and intercity bus lines, which have been operating in increasing numbers and with more and more financial strength, led several Massachusetts city solicitors to write to Attorney General Fay R. Denton and tell him some of the complexities of the problems confronting them. It is alleged in several instances that the bus lines complained of had refused to become amenable to the domestic regulations of certain of the municipalities of which they were the passenger service lines. The transportation companies claimed that being interstate traffic-carriers, they were not amenable to or under the control of other local or Massachusetts jurisdiction. Refusals to pay city license fees were met with and city ordinances are alleged to have been ignored. Local bus line agents persistently refused to "talk business," the city solicitors of five complaining municipalities alleged. It is a situation that appears to call for some kind of an official ruling.

Substantial evidences of belief and faith in the economic stability of Lowell may be seen in the three building projects now launched by local banks—the Lowell Co-operative, City Institution for Savings and the Union National. The opening of the new Five Cent Savings bank dates back only about one year and well within recent memory were completed the new buildings of the Merrimack River Savings bank and the Old Lowell National. It is doubtful whether many other cities of size or greater than Lowell and yet below the metropolitan class, can point to such bank building activity in a comparatively short span of years. The year 1925, then, will see three banking institutions in brand new quarters, substantial and elaborate as well, which in themselves promise to be a source of pride and pride to the city. These bank edifices have been referred to as "the future of a producing city and to such an extent that they are expanding to keep pace with it. It is a good sign, tangibly expressed.

WASHINGTON. TURBS-II

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Alarm Clock" is the attraction offered by the Stanley James stock players at the Opera House this week. Miss Lillian Desmond, appearing in the leading feminine role. The story is a present day comedy from the pen of Avery Hopwood and centers about the troubles of dispirited Bobby Brandon, portrayed by Gerald Rowan, who is told he must mend his ways if he would ever be forgiven. To aid and strengthen Bobby in his determination to reach a fine old age some country relatives are imported to act as pacesetters for his new mode of living. Bobby behaves well enough but the countrified relatives undergo a strange metamorphosis and step higher than Bobby ever did in his wily days. It's a great show with a riot of delicate situations leading to laughter explosions.

The seat sale is encouraging. Lowell lovers of the spoken drama evidently intending to make a "welcome week" for Miss Desmond. Reservations may be made by phone at 7640 but unpaid reservations will go on window sale at 1.30 and 7.30 o'clock for the afternoon and evening performances.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Chief Caulpolican, Chilean Indian baritone, will share the headline honors at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, giving his repertoire of songs from opera and from ballads. He is a remarkable singer, cultured musically as well as generally, and a few seasons ago he created a part at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. Dan Coleman, one of the surest of laugh-makers, will be the other front-line attraction, appearing with his company in "The New Straggler." The piece is a sure-fire drawing card, and one which is penny and always humorous. It has musical interpolations. McGrath and Deeds coin conversation that is bright as easily as most of us inhale air. They are premier laugh-making men, who are always interesting. James Thompson and his company give "The Burglars' Union." In it Thompson has a blackface part that is nothing if not a bit, Boudini and Bernard are acrobaticists, and Clifford Jordan is an amiable-dexterous balancer. The week's picture is "Virtuous Liars."

Eskimo is Happiest Person on Earth

LOWER RIGHT SHOWS THE GREETING GIVEN THE ADVENTURERS BY PEOPLE OF WISCASSET, ME.

BY HAROLD MATSON

NEA Service Writer

WISCASSET, Me., Sept. 29.—Found:

the happiest man!

He is the Eskimo, living in the ice, living by harpoon and kayak. He eats seal meat, walrus meat, he eats the eggs of sea birds and he eats dog. He clothes himself with skins. His home is a hole in the ice. He has no fillyer. He has no steam heat. He has no corner drug store. No movies. No booze. But he is happy.

"He is so happy," says Dr. Donald B. Macmillan, arctic explorer just returned from a 14-months scientific research visit in the far north. "That I wonder if our talk about our civilization isn't lunacy. The more I know the Eskimo the more I think that if anybody is civilized on this earth it is this man of the ice."

Dr. Macmillan has lived with the Eskimo. He first met him when he was a member of the Peary expedition, and he has since known him on his own expeditions. The Eskimos know Macmillan. Each time he comes back to their country they greet him as an old friend, and they help him maneuver his staunch little schooner, the Bowdoin, through the icebergs.

"The spirit of brotherly love exists nowhere else in this world as it exists among the Eskimos," Dr. Macmillan continued. "They have no bank accounts. They accumulate no property. What belongs to one belongs to another. There is the true co-operative spirit. Seal meat, walrus meat, dog meat, homes that are crude holes in the ice—these are living standards not above those of the stone age. Truly, the Eskimo is living in a stone age, but whether he knows it or not he possesses great happiness, a happiness far above our own."

Needs Are Simple

The explorer explains his own theory for their superior happiness, and it would seem that Macmillan attributes most of our troubles to our possessions, what we own we fight to get and fight to protect.

"Their needs are simple so they get what they need. That is why they are happy. They know that if they have to fight for their food they will fight the elements, and that every man among them who could corral all the seals, get a corner on the walrus and thus seek to better himself through the suffering of others."

"The life of the Eskimo is sincere and simple. He has no intricate code of conventions, no pretences, no ambitions that can be realized only through the beating down of his fellow men."

Dr. Macmillan asserts that one gets a different perspective on life's values in the north. "Civilization," he says, "loses its importance." He describes the Eskimo race as one large and happy family, willing to work and satisfied with their lot.

Of course, Dr. Macmillan was happy to put in again at Monhegan island off the Maine coast, where he met his relatives and friends. Back from the hardships of the north he and his crew might have been elated with having returned safely to "civilization."

Going Back!

But Dr. Macmillan is going back!

fight. They never need to. I never heard an argument between two Eskimos—and I never saw an Eskimo cop, nor an Eskimo stripe, nor an Eskimo traffic jam; they don't murder either. Which is the civilization? Hardships of the north? Yes, but hardships of the north? Yes, but the Bowdoin will point arcticward again next June, bound for "happy-land."

HE'S KING OF AMBERGRIS

"King of Ambergris." That's what they call D. C. Stull of Provincetown, Mass. Whalers all over the world send him ambergris which comes from the intestines of whales. Worth about $500 a pound to perfumers, the supply is so limited that 140 pounds per year is an average. Ambergris itself has an indolent odor but it is used in perfumes because it binds essential oils and, strangely enough, preserves delicate odors.

New System of Fat Reduction

Here is a new way for all fat people to reduce. A new way to rid yourself easily and quickly of the burdensome fat which makes you miserable. Why should you let yourself go, resigning yourself to being fat, when by using Marmola Prescription Tablets you can become slender again? Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. You, too, can take off your excess flesh in this same pleasant manner. No need for violent exercises or starvation diets. Just take one small Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and before going to bed. In a very short time your fatty flesh will begin to disappear and soon you will become the proud possessor of a slender, shapely figure. You will never be admired as long as you are fat—for fat people are always being made fat of. But don't let that worry you any more. One of the foremost physicians of his time discovered the Marmola Prescription for fat reduction and he also conceived the idea of putting it up in the convenient tablet form. All you have to do is to go to your druggist and get a box. Or if you prefer, send the price—one dollar—to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid. Start taking these pleasant little tablets now—you will always be glad that you decided to try them. Many of your friends have used them successfully.—Adv.

Leave Mexico or Face Firing Squad

GLORIA FAURE

BY BURTON DAVIS

NEA Service Writer

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 29.—Gloria Faure, whose grandfather was a president of France, had two alternatives.

She could leave Mexico or face a firing squad.

And quite naturally, she left Mexico.

The pretty, black-haired, dark-eyed 20-year-old sonora was classed as a dangerous radical. There was a price upon her head.

She had gone through the De la Huerta revolution against the Obregon government, as secretary to Jorge Prieto Laurens, one of De la Huerta's chief lieutenants.

It was a dangerous post for a girl. But Gloria never balked.

She had cast her lot with insurgents while visiting friends in Vera Cruz.

With Laurens, she went to Tuxtepec, to Puerto Mexico, to Frontera, to Laguna del Carmen, to Campeche, to Progreso.

When the rebel leaders at last were forced to flee for their lives, she went with them. With a little party of refugees, she arrived in New Orleans last April.

In June she decided to return to her home in Mexico City.

But there she found she was a marked woman. Government agents shadowed her. Friends gave her to understand she had better leave Mexico.

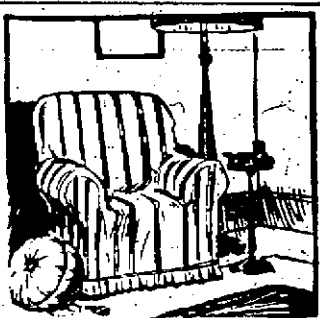

She came to Houston. Here she met her old chief, Laurens—not so old in years, for he is not yet 30, but worn with the cares of a lost cause.

Meanwhile, though, wires were being cut in the Mexican capital. The government gave her brother permission for her return.

Now she was going back under that amnesty proclamation.

"I've had enough excitement," she says. "I just want to go home for awhile, and then—"

"Oh, I may get married and come back to the United States to live."

PUT SLIP COVER OVER CHAIR.
Often a slip cover will help prolong the life of a chair for several years. It can be made to cover the chair completely with a ruffle around the bottom. As such it may transform an old and ugly piece of furniture into a charming addition to a room.

SICK HEADACHE AND NEURALGIA

These Often Occur Together Because They Have the Same Cause

Two forms of nervousness, sick headache and neuralgia, have the same cause, undernourished nerves. They may occur together as they did in the case of Mrs. Chris. Hanson, of No. 39 Sullivan street, Manchester, N. H.

"My system was run down," says Mrs. Hanson. "and I was tired all day long. I had sick headaches and dizzy spells. The pain would be across my temples and in my eyes. My appetite was poor and nothing tasted good. I had neuralgia in the right side of my face. My color was sallow, my stomach upset and I did not rest well at night."

"I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After the second box I could see that they were helping me. My food tasted better and my appetite increased. I gained in strength also. I continued the treatment and the headaches are all gone now as well as the neuralgia pains. I feel good and I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic for the blood and nerves, entirely free from alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Get a sixty-cent box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your own druggist today and write the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the free booklet "Diseases of the Nervous System—Adv."

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

EVERETT TRUE

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 12

Pretty soon Flop came down out of the tree again and when he got just above Jack he jumped to the little adventurer's shoulder. "I guess Flop likes me pretty well," smiled Jack. "Oh, he'll like you all right as long as you treat him nice and pay lots of attention to him," replied the guide.

Then the guide returned to where the captain and the two sailors had stopped to rest. Jack, Flop and Flop followed him. "We thought you had been lost again," said the captain. "You'd better sit down and eat a bite of food." So Jack squatted down and shared his dinner with Flop and Flop.

"After we get through eating," said the guide. "I'd like to take you over to where we are likely to see a real wild African elephant." So, in a few moments the meal was finished and the party was hiking forth once more. This time Jack put Flop on Flop's back to give the monkey a ride. (Continued.)

SEATTLE PAYS TRIBUTE TO GLOBE ENCIRCLING AIRMEN

Appreciative Citizenry Enthusiastically Greets Epoch-Making Aviators—Elapsed Time of Flight 175 Days—Total Mileage 27,534—Congress to Honor Air Heroes

SEATTLE, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Six United States army aviators who completed a flight around the world here yesterday were prepared today to receive the welcome which has been arranged by an appreciative citizenry.

The elapsed time of the flight was 175 days; total mileage, 27,534; days actually in air 68; actual flying time 331 hours, 11 minutes; average speed 76.36 miles per hour.

Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the flight, officially reported completion of the journey to Mayor-General Mason N. Patrick at Washington, D. C., by telephone last night. He was informed by General Patrick that future duties and movements of the six aviators will be announced tomorrow.

At a public luncheon today, the citizens and their mechanics were to make talks describing their world famous trip.

In addition to the luncheon, the aviators planned to participate in the dedication of a monument at Sand Point commemorating man's first circumnavigation of the globe by air. The aviators were scheduled to speak briefly there.

A telegram received last night from President Coolidge, informed the men that the president intended, on the convening of congress, to "recommend that authority be granted to reward the squadron by promotion and other appropriate action in order that your distinguished service may have a practical recognition from your country."

At present it is not known how long the aviators are to remain in Seattle or whether the air cruisers Boston II, Chicago and New Orleans are to be taken back by the original pilots of the cities they were christened after.

Seattle's homage to the epoch-making aviators was among the best of any city along the route in the United States.

GIRL BRAVES ICY SEA

Eva Morrison in Attempt to Reach Boston Light—in Water Seven Hours

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—Miss Eva Morrison of Pictou, N. S., at times a stenographer, a telephone operator and a music student, today was acknowledged to be a swimmer of strength by the long distance swimming experts of this city.

In waters too cold for more than one of several men who had entered the water here, Miss Morrison yesterday swam for seven hours in an attempt to reach Boston light. Art Ross, who dove off with her, left the water a mile out saying it was too cold for him. Miss Morrison continued to within a mile and a half of the light, eating chocolate fed her from a rowboat, when she was taken from the water because the tide had set against her.

WOMAN INJURED WHEN TRUCK AND CAR CRASH

A woman was painfully injured, a truck badly damaged and a score or more passengers on an electric car frightened early last evening when the electric car was in collision with the truck at Westford and Coral streets.

The injured woman was Mrs. Florence Y. Hartwell of 233 Westford street, who was thrown from the truck and was thrown forcibly against the truck cab by the impact. She received a serious scalp injury and many bruises and was treated at her home by Dr. Charles L. Sweetser.

The collision occurred at 8:20 o'clock. The electric car, operated by Bernard Moran, was outwound bound on Westford street and when near the junction of Coral street on Westford, the truck, driven by Carroll D. Black, also of 233 Westford street, was backed out into the street. The operator of the car was unable to avoid the truck, and the car struck the right rear of the truck, pushing it for several feet and up against a tree at the curb.

Mrs. Hartwell was rushed to her home and Dr. Sweetser summoned. The truck was undamaged in the crash, owned by the People's Coal company, was badly damaged. The electric car was but slightly damaged and its occupants escaped without injury.

GAINED EIGHT POUNDS

This Little Girl Got New Strength From Father John's Medicine

"One of my neighbors told me about Father John's Medicine, and I gave it to my little girl when she was sick. Since taking it she has gained eight pounds and has a beautiful color. Now she can go out and play like the rest of the children. I am sending a picture of my daughter to show the benefits obtained from Father John's Medicine." (Signed) Mrs. R. L. Doherty, 449 Newfield Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.

The sure food elements in Father John's Medicine make new strength and health. It is a real body builder and not a stimulant because it is free from alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.

YALE-CAMBRIDGE DEBATE

"Resolved, That We Pity Our Grandchildren," Subject Selected

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 29.—"Resolved, that we pity our grandchildren," was the subject selected for the debate by teams of Yale and Cambridge which will hold a forensic contest here Oct. 13. It is the first attempt to discuss a purely sociological problem in intercollegiate debate here. The debate will be the second meeting of Yale and an English university team. It will be conducted as with the debate with an Oxford team last fall, on the English plan of including members of each of the opposing teams on the respective affirmative and negative sides.

WORCESTER SCENE OF VETS REUNION

Veterans of old-time Massachusetts militia organizations flourishing in the days before the World war and reorganizing the old volunteer commands into the national guard, today were present from the national guard battalions and organizations located in Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell and New Bedford. Delegations were also present from the headquarters supply company of the 102nd Field Artillery, M.N.G., Salem, and the medical detachment from Danvers.

Among the guests were Brig-Gen. John H. Sherburne, Brig-Gen. Richard J. Hall, Brig-Gen. Thomas P. Foley, formerly a top sergeant in Worcester's old Emmet guards, Ninth Massachusetts Regiment of Volunteers, before he went to France and was captured; and Major Michael J. O'Brien of Worcester.

The field artillery veterans and guests enjoyed a banquet on the Tannock field at 1 p. m. During the afternoon, there was a baseball game and athletic program.

Col. John F. Herbert of the Veterans' Bureau forces was once captain of old Battery B, when located in the state armory at the corner of Salisbury and Grove streets, in Worcester.

The changes in the state military protective forces in the new line-up of the Massachusetts national guard, brought the Battery B designation to the Lowell branch of the state's military arm, with the same military number "102," being retained for the regimental designation.

OPENING NIGHT AT THE Y. M. C. I.

In the annals of the Young Men's Catholic Institute of this city, tonight goes down as the big night of the year for it is opening night of the institute and this means the bringing together of all the old and young members of the thriving organization for a general get-together and good time. Y. M. C. I. opening nights are gala events and the members look forward for the announcement of these affairs for they mark the beginning of the season each year. Tonight's affair has been carefully arranged for and an energetic committee has been at work perfecting plans for the occasion. All is in readiness to give the members and their friends "the time of their lives." The committee in charge of tonight's opening is Jerry Welch, chairman; Joseph Finnerty, Gilbert Ringwood, Hugh McGrogan and Michael Corrigan. The rooms will be thrown open to not only the members of the organization, but also to their friends. Bowling, pool and billiards will be enjoyed while in the main hall a specially arranged entertainment will be in order followed by dancing until 12. An invitation to the young Irish friends of the organization is extended and it is expected that a large gathering of the fair sex will be on hand to assist in the festivities. The Vincent Club Five orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for dancing and many novel features are planned.

CHARGE ASSAULT ON LITTLE GIRL

Samuel Routhier, 35, of Brookings street was arraigned in district court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on a six-year-old girl. He pleaded not guilty and was released in $500 bonds until Oct. 5. The alleged offense is said to have been committed in a local theatre last night. Routhier was arrested by Patrolman Patrick Leavitt as he was about to leave the theatre. He was also charged this morning with failure to pay a fine of $15 imposed last February for being present where gaming implements were found. He paid the fine before being released.

PARACHUTE JUMPER WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT FALLS TO HER DEATH

AUCH, France, Sept. 29.—Mme. Liliane Darcy, a parachute jumper, was killed while giving an exhibition here yesterday. The jump was the feature of a fête arranged in honor of Capt. Georges Pelletier Dolsy, who recently completed a Paris-to-Tokyo flight in 45 days.

Mme. Darcy went up in a plane with one of France's aviators, M. Frouval. When the machine had reached a good height over the fairground she jumped, but the parachute failed to open until she was a few feet from the ground. She received terrible injuries from which she died in a few minutes.

SEVERAL HURT AT SOCCER GAME

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 29.—Several spectators were injured at a soccer match between the Uruguayan Olympians and a picked Argentina team yesterday. The game was suspended after a few minutes of play when the playing field was invaded by spectators who could not find places in the regular enclosures. It is estimated that 100,000 persons tried to crowd into the arena, which has only room for about 50,000.

The first match of the series which ended in a 1 to 1 tie, was played in Montevideo.

CHELMSFORD DEMOCRATIC TOWN COMMITTEE

GIRL GENIUS TO BE DOCTOR

Muriel Black, Plymouth Working Girl, Desires to Study Medicine

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The young woman declared by a committee of industrial leaders and Harvard professors to be a genius whose light was being hidden under the routine of school teaching and factory work was identified today as Miss Muriel Black, who is employed temporarily by the Plymouth Cordage Company at its plant in Plymouth. Those who saw her after the report of the committee of the Associated Industries became public said the committee might well have added "extremely attractive" to its summary of qualities of the 24-year-old girl which gave "poise, outlook, a fine physique, excellent practical judgment and great ambition."

Miss Black, in discussing the committee's choice, said she wanted very much to be a doctor. "I want to study medicine and specialize in children's diseases. That has been my ambition since I was a little girl of ten years in Michigan," she said. The committee has indicated that the education will be forthcoming as a result of its findings, and the confirmation by the Harvard professors.

COST OF CRIME IN U. S. SOARS

Reaches Its Highest Point, as Much as Annual Budget of the Nation

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The cost of crime in the United States has reached its highest point, as much as the annual budget of the nation, which was more than three and one-half billions of dollars, according to a report prepared by the protective committee of the American Bankers' association. Preliminary sessions of the fifth annual convention of the association were held today.

Elimination of politics in police affairs will be urged by the committee and speakers and creation of state police in those states without them will be recommended. The report will show how crime is greater in some states without state police than in others. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York, which have state police.

Forgeries, according to insurance estimates included in the report, may reach $100,000,000 for 1924, though the net loss not covered by insurance, probably will not be above $105,000.

Hold-ups have nearly doubled, according to the report which contains a warning to banks not members of the association and showing that since the protective department was organized non-member banks have been the victims of 2500 burglaries with a loss of about $5,000,000 while member banks have had 2500 burglaries with cash loss of about $1,000,000.

TO PROTEST REMOVAL OF DIRECTOR BUTLER

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—Brigadier-General Smedley D. Butler, whose resignation as director of public safety is reported to have been requested by Mayor Kendrick in a letter prepared a week ago, but withheld because of the general's illness, may not be able to return to his office today as had been expected. The mayor declined to confirm or deny reports that he is expected to let to Mayor Kendrick's home in the event General Butler was unable to come to city hall. He previously stated that it would not be handed the director until he returned to his desk.

Dr. Hubley R. Owen has ordered General Butler to remain at home at least another day and declared that should he disobey these orders it might result in a "complete physical breakdown, with possibilities of serious consequences."

Plans for the mass meeting in the Academy of Music tonight to protest against the proposed removal of Director Butler have been completed. Resolutions urging the retention of Director Butler were adopted yesterday by the congregations of many of the city's churches. A petition said to have thousands of signatures urging he be retained, will be presented to Mayor Kendrick today by officers of the Bethany Temple Presbyterian church.

3000 SPECIAL OFFICERS FOR ELECTION

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 29.—More than 3000 special policemen have been sworn in to preserve order and guarantee full electoral liberty at the national elections on Oct. 5. Thirteen American marines, one in each province, also will observe the elections in a private capacity.

One of the measures decided upon by the authorities to preserve order is the confiscation of all arms and ammunition until after the election.
